THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news to [illegible] the Eastern Collection, a selection of the best articles appearing in THE DAILY OREGONIAN, full and reliable news from the Mines, and the most complete commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is double that published by any other journal in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable, more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests.

SENATOR HARDING.—We stated the other day that this gentleman had consistently supported the Government by his votes during his Congressional career. We felt anxious to do him full justice, but our remarks have called out much comment from various sources, and his position upon many prominent questions of the day has been referred to as not justifying the statement made by us. Among others, a gentleman who came up on the steamer, details a conversation in which Mr. Harding sustained his friend Bush, and declared that he was as "good a Union man as there was in Oregon." This will be no recommendation to the Union men of Oregon, who know Bush to be an enemy to the Government, and would not believe the contrary were the pledges of himself and friends offered by the score to make the assertion good. Times and men have changed since Mr. Harding left first for Washington and neither temporizing or hesitation will answer the uses of the people.

We are able to make the fight without Mr. Harding's assistance, but if he endorses Bush he may as well support the vile sheet that Bush engineers, and call himself a disciple of Miller and Joe Smith. We hear also that he denounces the State bounty system, and says there was not any need of enlistments in Oregon. This does not have the ring of Union metal either. We hope that we have been mistaken, but if these are the sentiments with which Mr. Harding returns to Oregon, we prophesy that he will not succeed in finding believers in the Union ranks, while the rebels have no reason to put confidence in a man who has especially been the object of their abuse since his election to the Senate.

MARQUIS DE LA PAT MALONE.—Some time since, when the Albany Journal invented this title for the editor of the Reporter, it struck us as rather a humorsome effort, but as the greater part of the last Reporter is devoted to Sonora, Gwin and emigration from these parts, the matter begins to look serious. Malone has been corresponding with Gwin's agent, Barclay Henly, and tells him that "many despairing of preserving the priceless boon of liberty" under the "Autocrat at Washington" think of going somewhere else, and desire to know if they can vote and own a bit of soil in Sonora under Gwin. The answer is that the American people can soon arrange all these things to their satisfaction when enough of them arrive at Sonora. It is rather cruel for our fellow citizens to leave us in such a condition of anarchy and misrule as they say we sweat and labor under, here in Oregon, but if our neighbors want to leave us to pay off the State indebtedness and suffer all the ills we have, while they fly to those they know not of in Sonora, we can probably stand it, especially as the said ills are visible to none but unterrified Democrats.

ROUTES TO KOOTENAI.—The North Idaho Radiator objects that we have not mentioned Lewiston in connection with the road to Kootenai, and claims to have a percentage in its favor upon that route. We can't say that it has or that it has not from our personal knowledge, and we had no intention of slighting its claims. There seems to be two routes—one by Walla Walla and one by Lewiston—and another in prospect from White Bluffs when boats commence running above Colville. The success of the latter will be determined when the boat is built. We call the attention of travelers to the claims of the Lewiston route, for we desire to be impartial, and claim no right with our present knowledge to favor the one route to the detriment of the other. Neither did we invite settlers for British Columbia, but for the northern valleys of Washington Territory and Idaho.

SALEM ITEMS.—The Statesman says the new flouring mill of the Willamette Woolen Manufacturing Company, at that place, is now ready for work. It is the largest mill on the coast, and is capable of doing first-class work. The building is five stories and basement, and there will be six burrs on the first floor. Hon. A. R. Shipley, of Clackamas, was the Superintendent of the work and architect. Total cost, $40,000.

Circuit Court meets next Monday. The most important business before it is the trial of Beal and Baker for the murder of Daniel Delany. Sen.

Large amounts of breadstuffs were still being shipped down the river, and considerable wool was arriving for factory use.

STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—We would call the attention of all interested in the success of this important society to the fact that a meeting of its officers is appointed to be held at Salem on the 4th of next month, and that all the members are earnestly invited to attend. It is to be hoped that greater success will attend the future efforts of the society than have been hitherto accomplished at the annual fairs, and this is only to be anticipated from an increase of attention manifested by all interested. There is nothing else of a great public value and importance as the agricultural interest of the State, and every farmer should lend his aid to further the common good.

GENERALS GRANT AND TERRY.—After Butler's ineffectual attempt to capture Fort Fisher, the matter was discussed in camp, and General Terry quietly asserted the feasibility of the attempt. Gen. Grant was a listener, and looking attentively at the speaker for an instant, as if to read his capacity, he said, "General, do you think it can be taken?" "I certainly do, sir," said Terry. "Then, sir, you shall soon have the opportunity," was Grant's reply. He had, with his usual sagacity, taken the measure of the man and saw that it was in him, and like a true General he soon got it out of him. Such is the account recently given us by a gentleman direct from Washington.

BLOODHOUNDS.—There are many less of these brutes in Georgia than there were before Sherman marched through. His troops killed all they could find, and fugitives from Southern prison pens will have a better show on that line of travel. Sherman seems to have made a dog law of his own.

TRANSPLANTING IN THE NIGHT.—An eastern paper states an experiment where trees were transplanted in the night and all throve well without wilting, while part of the same lot transplanted during the day [illegible]

What is a Boy Worth?

This question admits of many answers. To the State he is worth [illegible] he can be [illegible]. Has a boy, like many values, is [illegible] yet [illegible] real. To the city or village in which he lives he is worth much on account [illegible] ability to fit himself for its future business and responsibilities. One lad has perhaps more [illegible] yet no one is incapable of usefulness [illegible] according to their ability, we cannot justly estimate every boy at a [illegible]

[illegible] we cannot afford to lose [illegible]. In a religious point of view they are looked upon with intense interest. Many a boy may become a model of virtue, truth, piety and integrity, and as such, a pillar in the church as well as the upholder of every good work in the community.

But a boy's value to his parents and to his brothers and sisters cannot be estimated. Money cannot buy parental, filial and fraternal love. He is worth all to himself that he is to the State, to the city, to the church, and a great deal more. A father loves his boy and prizes him more than he loves his property, or his [illegible] social relations. In every respect a boy is worth too much to be sacrificed, and we as a people [illegible] agents to corrupt and destroy our boys. We imprison the man who sets fire to our house, but we let another man poison the family, and even give him a license to do it.

One of the latest among other schemes to lead youth from the path of sobriety and virtue, is the "Hurdy Gurdy" saloon, or its equivalent. It is a new term, but it is an old scheme with new fascinations. Girls form the attraction around the bar and the gaming table, and they lead in the dance. Dancing girls are the decoy ducks with which the keepers lure your boy from home, and destroy his virtue, his honesty and his honor. Painted girls inveigle the young man with money, and prepare him by strong drink to lose money and character. Music, song and beauty unite to lead your boy to "Her house that is the way to hell, going down to the chambers of death." For a paltry license, boys and young men are bartered; no less than slaves bring at the auction block we sell our boys into the slavery of vice. G.

Washington Territory Agricultural College.

VANCOUVER, March 9, 1865.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Herewith please find the proceedings of the Board of Trustees of Washington Territory Agricultural College, organized by the act of the Territorial Legislature at its last session, in conformity with an act of Congress, approved July 2d, 1862. In the act organizing the College, E. S. Fowler, M. Winther, John Sheets, J. W. Brown, Gay Hayden, John H. Timmons, and the Governor of the Territory were named as Trustees, and they were required to meet on the 3d Monday of February, 1865.

Accordingly the Board of Trustees met at Vancouver on that day. No quorum being present, it adjourned to meet again on the 23d of the same month. At that meeting, for the same reason as before, the Board adjourned to meet on Monday evening, March 6th.

The board met according to adjournment. Present, J. W. Brown, Gay Hayden, M. Winther and John H. Timmons, constituting a quorum.

On motion of Gay Hayden, J. W. Brown was elected President of the Board and H. K. Hines, Secretary. G. T. McConnell, on motion of Mr. Winther, was elected Treasurer.

On motion of Gay Hayden, seconded by Mr. Winther, Lewis Farnsworth, was elected Commissioner of College lands. Mr. Farnsworth being present, signified his acceptance of the trust committed to him.

The Board then adjourned to meet at Vancouver, on Tuesday, June 6th, 1865, at 8 o'clock.

H. K. HINES, Sec'y of the Board.

What ails the Mails?

[illegible], Feb. 21, 1865.

H. L. PITTOCK—Sir: Enclosed please find six dollars in currency for one year's subscription for the Oregonian. There are some of your subscribers in this part of the country talking of not subscribing this year on the account of our mails. I tell you, it is very trying to one's patience, to come seven miles after our mails and wait two days after the mails are due, and then have to go home without any news. Feb. 4th is the latest Oregonian that we have had in this place, and I do not know when we will get any more. The mail carrier says he will carry it to suit himself, as he has not got any schedule time. We do not know how to help ourselves. Can you do anything for us by giving the contractors a "blowing up?" I know you would get quite a number more subscribers if we could get your paper as soon as we should have it; but send me it another year. When I do get it, it is good for the sore eyes.

BOISE ITEMS.—The Walla Walla Statesman has the following items:

Considerable excitement exists in the Basin in regard to the disappearance of Johnny McCommons, one of the partners in the Humbolt Express Company. Mr. M. went out in search of stock belonging to the express company, which had been driven off by the Snakes, and it is supposed was killed or taken prisoner by the Indians. A party of men went out from the Basin in search of him, and tracked him to the Owyhee river, about 25 miles from Pleasant Valley, where they found indications of his having had a scuffle with the Indians, thence they followed a trail that led into a spot where they supposed not less than five hundred Indians had been encamped. Here the search was given up as hopeless.

The fall of snow in the Upper Payette Valley has been light during the winter. There was not more than four inches of snow upon the ground there last week. Some three or four thousand head of beef cattle have been wintered on the Payette, Squaw Creek and Weiser river, nearly all of which have kept in excellent order.

The snow is about six feet deep on a level in the Basin—about twelve feet having fallen during the winter. Fourteen inches of snow fell there on the 11th of February.

The stage company's sleigh, coming down, crossed the Snake, at Farewell Bend, on the only [illegible] of solid ice visible in the river.

Another avalanche of snow came down the mountains near Hawkin's ranch, on Burnt river, last week. The snow filled the river up, and backed the water up forty feet deep before it broke through.

From Beckfellow's to Powder river the snow is about two feet deep, but the road is in good traveling condition. Thence to Proctor's ranch, on the head of Pyle's Canyon, the snow is badly drifted and the road very uneven.

The road across the Blue mountains is in good condition. At Meacham's the snow is five feet deep.

The Payette river was rising, and Snake river was open for 300 miles above Old's Ferry.

By correspondence of the Boise Statesman, we learn of a fight between soldiers and Indians on the 28th ult., in a canyon on Catherine creek. Some cattle were stolen. Capt. O'Regan detached six men and Sergeant Storm, accompanied by four herders, overtook the Indians, 30 in number, in the bottom of a canyon engaged in cutting the meat of the cattle which they had killed. They immediately engaged the Indians, firing from the hill sides for an hour and a half,—eleven [illegible]—and succeeded in defeating them; killing 20 and wounding at least an equal number. The correspondent truly says, "This is the severest chastisement the Indians have ever received in this part of the country," and many an emigrant now living in this Territory will be pleased to hear it when he recalls the spot and incidents to mind. The stream is sometimes called Currant creek, and has long been a troublesome spot for emigrants.

[illegible] EMIGRATION.—Dispatches received today announce that full and complete arrangements have been made by General Pope for the protection of all overland travel. This is an important matter for the whole Pacific coast, as many thousands are expected to cross the plains the coming season, and much freighting will be done from the Missouri river to the different mining regions of the Rocky Mountains, and an effort will be made to [illegible] goods and machinery to parts of Idaho. [illegible] We [illegible] compete successfully with the overland teamsters bound for Idaho.

[illegible] The papers of the States and [illegible] have been containing the amounts of [illegible] the world believes to be the truth. [illegible]

[illegible] The Senators from [illegible] and Kentucky, according to the Congressional [illegible], had a good time at each others expense, about the 10th of January. Judging from the report, the "Conservative Kentucky chap" had the satisfaction of treating his mind the [illegible]

The rebel House of Representatives adopted a resolution to adjourn on March [illegible]

NEW YORK, March 7.—The [illegible] North Carolina letter says: "We have a multiplicity of rumors relative to the evacuation of Mobile. It is not true that the rebel forts covering the [illegible] been materially strengthened, but the garrison of the city has been reinforced by the addition of 12,000 men. The city is not at all invested by Federal troops. Telegraph and railroad communications between Mobile and central Alabama are uninterrupted. Gens. Beauregard, Dick Taylor, Frank Gardner, Chalmers, Maury and others on the 11th were at Mobile. On the 10th an order was [illegible] calling upon every able bodied male person to bear arms."

The Herald's Wilmington correspondent of March 2d makes no allusion to the [illegible] of Schofield's force with Sherman's. [illegible] field was busy perfecting plans for [illegible] of his campaign in North Carolina. [illegible] exchange of prisoners on Cape Fear river was going on. Our prisoners who were received [illegible] except that they complain of [illegible]

CHICAGO, March 7.—A Nashville letter of March 2d says: Nearly every day for the past week two full regiments, and sometimes three, of new troops, have passed through this city. [illegible] precise destination of this new army is not known, but it is believed to be for the purpose of augmenting Thomas' army, in order to check any movement which may be made from the direction of Richmond. Thomas has returned from Eastport, Alabama, where he has been arranging for the future movements of his army.

From North and South Carolina.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The steamer Fulton from Hilton Head the 4th has arrived.

Everything was progressing favorably at Charleston, and traders were beginning to open stores.

General Hatch is in command of the Northern District of the Department of the South, and General Schemmelfennig is in command at Charleston.

The railroad has been completed to [illegible] Potter advanced to the Santee river without opposition. News had been received of the total destruction of Columbia. At last accounts Sherman had arrived at Charlotteville, S. C. Also Beauregard was hovering in his front. The 28th regiment, recruited in Charleston, has been mustered into service. Lights are soon to be lighted on Sumter and Moultrie, and the channel is being cleared for navigation. Several incendiary fires have occurred in Charleston.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The World's Wilmington correspondent under date of Feb. 28th says: Our advance under Terry is now 12 miles from here, on the northwest branch of Cape Fear river, with Hoke's troops confronting it on the other side. Sherman is reported to-day as being within 60 miles of this place. If this is the case a junction will be easily made between Schofield's troops and his, and a forward movement to Richmond ordered at once.

The state of feeling in North Carolina is plainly evident from the tone of the press and recent events.

Nearly a whole company of North Carolina cavalry deserted a few days since and came into Newbern, bringing their horses and equipments.

The rebels are conscripting all the boys they can lay hands on.

Arrangements have been made to exchange [illegible] prisoners at Wilmington, and they are now being forwarded.

From Sheridan.

The Herald's Winchester correspondent says: Deserters who have arrived at Winchester state they passed Sheridan on the way down. He reached Woodstock, 30 miles from the starting point on the first day, and though the rain was falling, the roads were very muddy and the streams much swollen, his troops were pushing forward rapidly. It was expected that on the third day, they would reach Staunton, 25 miles up the Valley, a short distance north of which town, Early with a small rebel force then was.

The Tribune's Washington special dispatch says: Gen. Emory telegraphs from Winchester that some of our men, who are coming in, report Sheridan's victory over Early as more complete than the report we had. When last heard from, he was pushing for the canal running from Lynchburg to Richmond, which he has doubtless reached and destroyed before this.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Herald's Winchester correspondent confirms the reported victory over Early by Sheridan, and says that Sheridan has occupied Staunton on his march up the valley to that point. He met with no material opposition. The report that Early was captured by Sheridan is not confirmed.

Rebel prisoners report heavy Union forces advancing from East Tennessee on Lynchburg, of the capture of which place, we have unconfirmed rumors.

Concerning Richmond and the Army of the Potomac.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Information from the Army of the Potomac says that all is quiet. The freshet was subsiding. The exchange of prisoners was resumed. A report is in circulation that Lynchburg is in our possession, but it cannot be traced to trustworthy authority.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Richmond papers still express the belief that Grant will attack Lee's lines around Richmond as soon as the ground will permit. The rebels believe that Grant has sent nearly all his cavalry from the armies of the Potomac and the James to Sheridan in the Shenandoah valley. A meeting to obtain subscriptions of provisions for Lee's army was recently held at Danville. In noticing it the Whig says [illegible] must be fed or we lose all. The Danville Register asserts that it does not enter into Lee's plans to abandon the Capital, unless, as is very prudently and somewhat contradictorily added, it becomes impossible to hold the city longer.

NEW YORK, March 9.—On Sunday Richmond was excited with rumors that Johnston had defeated Sherman and was investing a position that the latter had taken up. Next day, however, the Richmond papers admitted the falsity of the report, but claimed that Hampton had [illegible] Kilpatrick at Cheraw, S. C. This report, however was brought by a railroad passenger, who was the only one who knew anything about it.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The Herald's correspondent from the James says: There are additional indications of Lee's intention to abandon Richmond. It is well understood that the removal of Government stores has been going on for some time. Large numbers of troops have recently been sent away. It is presumed they have gone to Lynchburg.

The Tribune has the following special dispatch:

WASHINGTON, March 7.—A man named Clements has been turned over to the civil authorities by the military authorities. [illegible] his plans arranged for the assassination of President Lincoln on inauguration day. [illegible]

The steamer that arrived here to-day had on board the first United States mail that has arrived from Charleston since the breaking out of the rebellion.

CAIRO, March 6.—The Memphis and Vicksburg packet Jesse Benton, laden with Government freight, a large number of passengers and 80 soldiers, sunk 12 below Napoleon, Ark., on the morning of the 2d. Over 50 lives were lost, including Adams' Express messenger, 20 soldiers, several ladies and children. The officers of the boat were mostly saved. The steamer and cargo are a total loss.

Nine buildings were burned last night, involving a loss of $[illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Gov. Evans, of Colorado, is now here. He has been authorized by Gen. Pope to give notice to emigrants and freighters across the plains, that full and complete arrangements have been made for the protection of all overland travel. Orders have been issued designating points for trains to assemble for escort. A large number of troops are now on their way to the plains.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Tribune's special dispatch says: It is the Government's policy to contract, rather than expand the currency.

Judge Edmunds is recommended for the [illegible] by the Governors of nine States.

LOUISVILLE, March 7.—About half a dozen guerillas from Wagenton's band went to [illegible] [illegible] representing themselves as supported by a much larger force in the rear. There was but little firing and slight damage. The negroes drove the guerillas out last evening.

At Brandenburg, Ky., about 20 guerillas attempted to make an incursion, and were repulsed by the Federal force stationed there.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The Virginia Senators, in the rebel Congress have been instructed to vote in favor of the bill to arm negroes in the rebel army. The bill was defeated, which before the Senate, by only one vote. Both the Virginia Senators voted against it.

The Danville Register says: "The crisis of the war is rapidly approaching, and in a short time some decisive battle will be fought."

Watts Sherman, of the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co., died at Madeira on the 20th February.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—The steamer Tycoon struck a [illegible] across the Cumberland river at Nashville yesterday and sunk. Loss, $30,000. Insurance, $2[illegible]

The extensive pork house of Thomas Henry & Co., was burned on Monday last. Loss, $200,000. Insurance, $[illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The Senate to-day elected Rev. Dr. Gray, a Baptist Clergyman of Washington, chaplain for that body.

From Mexico.

NEW YORK, March 9.—By the steamer Eagle we have Havana dates to the 4th, and from the city of Mexico to the 19th ultimo.

The rumored capture of Oaxaca by the Imperialists was not confirmed.

The French claim a victory over Antonio Rojas, killing Rojas and sixty of his officers, besides capturing [illegible] was reported to be captured with one hundred and sixty of his men, and two hundred were killed [illegible]

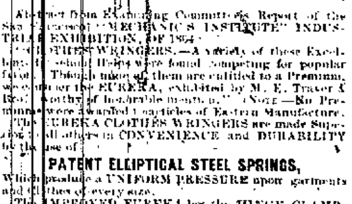
EUREKA



IMPROVED SELF-ADJUSTING

CLOTHES WRINGER

AWARDED THE FIRST PREMIUM

AT OREGON STATE FAIR IN 1864.

Abstract from Examining Committee's Report of the San Francisco "MECHANICS' INSTITUTE" INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION, OF 1864:

"CLOTHES WRINGERS.—A variety of these Excellent household helps were found competing for popular favor. Though most of them are entitled to a Premium, we consider the EUREKA, exhibited by M. E. Traver & Bro. worthy of honorable mention." (NOTE—No Premiums were awarded to articles of Eastern Manufacture.)

The EUREKA CLOTHES WRINGERS are made Superior to all others in CONVENIENCE and DURABILITY by the use of

PATENT ELLIPTICAL STEEL SPRINGS,

Which produce a UNIFORM PRESSURE upon garments and clothes of every size.

The IMPROVED EUREKA has the HINGE CLAMP, which fits any Tub or Box perfectly. Its entire construction is simple and excellent. Every Family should have one. It will soon RE-PAY ITS COST IN SAVING Time Labor and Clothes.

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The regular weekly meeting of the Common Council was held at the Council Chamber at seven o'clock last evening.

The following members were present: Councilmen Cook, Frazar, Gragion, Gilmore, Hoffman, Roberts, and Starr. Absent: Messrs. Bennett, McCraken.

Mayor Failing being absent the Council was called to order by the Clerk, and on motion Mr. Frazar was called to the chair and presided.

The records of the previous meeting were read by the Clerk and approved by the Council.

George Abernethy petitioned for the use of the street in front of his property for building purposes which was granted.

The petition of W. S. Winans to retail liquors at the Phoenix saloon on Washington street, was granted.

A remonstrance was read from property owners representing 2836 feet on Front street, remonstrating against the proposed improvement of Front street, between Pine and Jefferson streets, by paving, and recommend instead that the street be improved by laying down four inch plank in a substantial manner. The remonstrance was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The committee on fire and water reported adverse to the petition for a cistern at the intersection of First and Columbia streets. The same committee reported adverse to a further increase in the salary of the Chief Engineer. Reports adopted.

The reports of the committee on streets and public property favorable to the proposed grade of Jefferson street, and the extension of the Columbia street sewer, were adopted.

The City Treasurer's report, showing the sum of taxes collected, $12,580 13, and the delinquent taxes on the roll, $9,121 80 was accepted. The Treasurer also submitted a delinquent tax roll, as authorized at a previous meeting of the Council.

Warrants were ordered drawn on the appropriate funds for the following claims against the city: R. Pittock, $5[illegible]; R. Myers, $1[illegible]; L. Gill, $2 50; State of Oregon, $50; J. Bothwell, $2 75.

An ordinance to change the grade of Jefferson street was read first and second time.

An ordinance appropriating $2,551 to pay for engine and apparatus now used by the Willamette No. 1 Fire Company, was read first and second time.

Rule 24 was suspended, and the ordinance changing the grade of Jefferson street was taken up, read third time and passed.

A motion to suspend rule 28 in order to take up the ordinance appropriating $2,551 to purchase Willamette Company's engine, was lost.

On motion of Councilman Starr, the Clerk was instructed to attach a warrant to the delinquent tax list, and place the same in the hands of the Marshal for collection.

Councilman Frazer presented the following resolution, which was adopted: That hereafter the City Surveyor should drive the stakes for grading the streets, the first time at the expense of the city, but that if they were knocked down or destroyed, and it afterwards became necessary to have them re-set, it must be done at the expense of the parties interested, instead of the city.

On motion, the Council adjourned.

LOOK OUT FOR COUNTERFEITS.—Counterfeit bills of the United States currency are in circulation in our city. The first were discovered yesterday, and as there may be a large amount of them in Oregon at the present time, our commercial and business men will do well to look out for them. The counterfeit can be easily detected by the dingy, yellow, and greasy appearance of the paper when compared with the genuine. The engraving is also very course. The coloring of the back has the appearance of a smoky green, while on the front it is a very good imitation of the genuine. Messrs. Harker Bros., bought $400 in legal tender notes yesterday, of which amount $50 proved to be counterfeit, in $5 notes. As soon as it was discovered the affair was pretty generally made known, and in a short time a traveler was arrested at the New Columbian Hotel, as the party who had passed the spurious money. He is to have an examination before Recorder McCoy this morning.

A MOVEMENT TO BRIDGE THE MUD.—We regret being compelled to report a movement for the defeat of the plans of the Council for a decent improvement of Front street. The old system of planking—which will leave the city forever with a stench, and pollution of unhealthy matter—appears to be the style of improvement [?] the owners of feet desire. It makes no difference to them what the wishes of the occupants are, in this matter.' The price of lumber should make them sick of plank.

NOT A HURDY GURDY SHOP.—The case of the City against Henry Wagner was finally disposed of before Recorder McCoy yesterday. The defendant was arraigned on a charge of keeping a hurdy gurdy dance house without a license. The evidence taken in the matter did not show to the satisfaction of the Court that defendant kept such an institution, and he was discharged.

A CAVE DISCOVERED.—Parties who arrived in this city yesterday report that the late storms have created a cave in the Canyon, which they discovered on the road from Tualitan, and which gave them no small amount of trouble to pass. There is great necessity for a good road leading from this city to Tualitan Plains.

THE CLOSING SALE.—The auction sale of Mr. DeWitt's stock of groceries, merchandise, etc., was not completed yesterday, and in order that the sale may be made peremptory it will be continued at 10 o'clock A. M. to-day, at the old stand, corner of First and Yamhill Streets. Owing to this arrangement the regular sale at the commission house is postponed.

NEW ASSAY OFFICE BUILDING.—Mr. William Creasis to erect a new brick establishment for the use of Wells, Fargo & Co., as an Assay Office, on Stark street, between Front and First streets. The building will be commenced as soon as the weather will permit, and is calculated to be perfect in all of its appointments.

HORSES AND OXEN.—The Walla Walla Statesman says good work oxen are selling in that valley at from $125 to $150 per yoke, and as there are very many here who are interested in the subject of how they are to get through the mines it may be of importance for them to know that the same paper reports good half-breed and Cayuse saddle-horses selling at from $40 to $60 each. Ordinary animals can be bought at a much less figure.

RECORDER'S COURT.—In Recorder's Court yesterday the case against Goo Choog and Sue Pong, charged with setting up and conducting a gambling device was disposed of by holding the former in the sum of $1,000, and discharging the latter. Bonds were readily procured for the appearance of the defendant at the next term of the Circuit Court.

PROPOSALS FOR THE DREDGER.—The Council having decided upon a plan for the dredger, and determined to procure it at home if possible, invite proposals for its construction, according to the plans and specifications to be seen at the office of Councilman Frazar, [illegible] Front street.

Rebekah Meeting.—There will be a meeting held in the degree of Rebekah at the Odd Fellows' Hall of Samaritan Lodge No. 2, on Monday evening, March 13th, 1865, at 7½ o'clock. All Brothers in good standing are invited to attend. By order of the [illegible]

Reply.

VANCOUVER, W. T., March 6th, 1865.

GENTLEMEN:—Your favor of the 2d inst. is this day at hand. After a careful perusal thereof, I am profoundly impressed with the beauty and originality of its style, and am convinced that it could not have been couched in more appropriate language, even had I dictated it myself!

I am surprised, gentlemen, that you, or any other parties, should have selected me as [illegible].

While I am a modest man, and seek not to force myself into any position, yet it is not in human nature to resist so [illegible] appeal. Therefore, for your sakes, for my country's sake, and for my own sake, I respond, "Here I am, do with me as seemeth thee good."

Your true friend,

L. CERKOFFICE.

To Messrs. Simon Sobrious, Wales Trick, A. Fitzwheel, and 400,002 others.

Ferrell's Black List Corrected.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

SIR: I wish to state through your paper that Mr. Wm. Ferrell's statements are untrue, and are calculated to mislead the public. He says I sold him a horse some time ago that I warranted good and sound, which is not true. I sold Ferrell a horse that was old, crooked and sold [illegible] and that the horse could not make a living on grass because he could not get his head down [illegible]. No man could have seen and bought the horse without knowing the defect, if the man was not blind. The horse would have been worth $500 00 if he had been all right. As the horse was, he was a good work horse and Ferrell never complained of him previous to [illegible].

In the year 1863 Mr. Ferrell had dealings with me to the amount of several hundred dollars, and on the 1st of May, 1864, his account was, as charged him on my books: Cash, $7 [illegible]; One Horse, $150 00; One yoke of Steers, $85 00; making a total of $248 00. On the 18th of March, 1862, he made out his note for a balance due me on account for the sum of (about) $228 00, and sold it accordingly. Soon after he sold me a half breed colt for $27 00, for which I gave him credit on the note. On the 5th of February, 1865, he sent me word that he had the money ready to pay the note. I went after it, was well received by him, and he pretended to be very sorry that he did not know I was coming as he had left his money so that he could not pay it then, and wanted me to leave the note so that he could pay it, and on the 10th of February, 1865, the balance due on said note he paid in Greenbacks at par, which balance was for the principal and interest due on said note and not on account of said horse, as he falsely states.

Now, I wish to make him the following proposition: If he will have an affidavit made out by a good Union man, and published in your paper, stating that he ever paid me $25 00 in coin as he says on said note, I will pay the expense thereof, and if he will publish a correct copy of said note, with the credits on the same, I will pay that expense also. An early publication is requested.

WEEKLY COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

PORTLAND, March 10, 1865.

While we had reason to expect that the past week would be full of activity, it appears to have been quite the reverse, and we have no transactions of importance to note.

Trade with the interior is dull, and owing to the low stage of water in the Columbia, which interferes with the navigation of that river above Celilo, but few head of live stock have been shipped, those being by the steamer Wilson G. Hunt and numbering not over 200 head cattle.

Flour and Wheat have experienced another advance, but the prices offered do not seem to affect the market much, there being but little of the last named article on hand, apparently for sale. Barley has somewhat advanced in San Francisco, but it is nominally the same in this market.

The exports for the week, inclusive of $60,000 in treasure, per three departures amount to the sum of $111,672. There are several looked for, and among those most likely to arrive are the steamer Pacific, and barks Industry and Jane A. Falkinburg.

The Willamette Falls Canal Company, we understand from the interior press of the Valley, assuming responsible character, and promises to be the means of carrying into effect that important internal improvement within a few years.

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.

PORTLAND, March 10, 1865.

Jobbing has been confined principally to the city trade, although we hear of one transaction, embracing purchases to the amount of several thousand dollars for Umatilla.

Our merchants seem to be supplied with excellent stocks, and are prepared to offer the trade better inducements than at any former season. The subject of direct importations continues to attract attention, and during the coming year numerous vessels may be expected in this port from Atlantic cities. Knapp, Burrell & Co. are intending to have two or three dispatched in time to arrive by the fall months.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS.—The Weak, the Consumptive, Rheumatic, Costive, Bilious, and Delicate, after some days' use, will find renewed strength and hope pervade every organ of their frames.

Every dose makes the blood purer. The nerves commence in the arteries and terminate in the veins. These pills, as a first effect, act upon the arterial blood, increasing the circulation, by which impurities are deposited in the veins, and they throw off such collections into the bowels, which organs, by the energy derived from Brandreth's Pills, expel them from the system. When first used, the Pills may occasion griping, and even make the patient feel worse. This is an excellent sign, and shows the disease will soon be cured. No great good is often achieved without some trouble in its attainment, and this rule applies to the recovery of health.

Beware of the Fatal Consequences of Neglecting the First Symptoms of Consumption.—When a Cough first appears, or a dull pain in the chest, you should use ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM at once. It breaks up the most harrassing cough in an incredible short time, heals the irritated parts, and restores health to the system. For sale by

SMITH & DAVIS, Agents,

Portland, Oregon.

Also, by the Dealers in Family Medicines, generally.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be in the possession of everybody in the mining region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable, it has no superior. While it is quite palatable even as a beverage, it is speedy and powerful in its effects upon the system. In all cases of Diarrhea, Dysentery, and the prevailing fever consequent upon exposure, the Bitters will be found invaluable as a corrective. No man should enter upon the exposed camp life of a miner without being provided with Hostetter's preventive of stomach disease, nor should one of those who are now engaged in the occupation, fail to have recourse to the Bitters. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere. feb12

[illegible] the effect of a Cold, which has [illegible] entirely neglected. [illegible]

Always reason to fear the consequences,

[illegible]

STOP THAT COUGHING!

[illegible] You have tried [illegible] its intrinsic merit, [illegible] It is not surprising [illegible] to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds [illegible] but

Pulmonary Syrup!

Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM?

Dr. Hall in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for a 'cold,' badly attended, no doubt, but given to thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance."

He Had a Cold!

Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP.

KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

A Winter Sermon.

Thou dwellest in a warm and cheerful home;
Thy mother in vain the winter tempest lashes,
While homeless wretches round thy mansion roam,
On whose unsheltered head the torrent splashes.

Thy board is loaded with the richest meats,
O'er which thine eyes in sated languor wander;
Many might live on what thy mastiff eats,
Or feast on fragments which thy servants squander.

Thy limbs are muffled from the piercing blast,
When from thy friendly corner thou dost sally;
Many have starved in rags about them cast,
With which the frosty breezes toy and dally.

Thou hast soft smiles to greet the kiss of love,
When thy [illegible] step resounds within the portal;
Some have no friends save Him who dwells above,
No sweet communion with a fellow-mortal.

Thou sleepest soundly on thy costly bed,
Lulled by the power of luxuries unnumbered;
Some pillow on a stone an aching head,
Never again to wake when they have slumbered.

Then think of those, who, formed of kindred clay,
Depend upon the doles thy bounty scatters;
And God will hear them for thy welfare pray —
They are His children though in rags and tatters.

The Station-Master's Daughter.

"Your father has been taken with a fit at the Farrier's Arms," said Dick, "and I am come to fetch you. Make haste, and put on your things, and let us be off."

Madge started out of her brief reverie, opened her bedroom window, and looked out for the second time.

"Do make haste," exclaimed Dick the moment her head was protruded from the window. "How long are you going to be?"

"Answer me one question," said Madge. "Did you come up from the village alone? Is there no one here beside yourself? You know, Dick, that I am easily frightened—and—the hour is late, and—and—"

He did not allow her to finish, but burst into a loud, grating laugh.

"Alone! Quite alone, Madge, dear. I ran up from the village at a breakneck pace, and haven't seen a soul except your own sweet self since I left the Farriers' Arms."

"Dick Carradus, you are just telling me a heap of lies!" answered Madge, "though why you should do so, I cannot tell. I don't believe that my father has been taken ill, as you say; and I am quite certain that you are not alone."

Before Dick could reply, the hidden man burst into the moonlight, revealing Mr. Kulp to Madge's straining eyes. She had felt certain from the first that it could be no other than he.

"Come, stop all that jabber!" exclaimed Kulp, brutally. "If you had been guided by me"—this to Dick—"we should have had what we came for before now, but you must needs go to work in your own idiotic way; and see the result—all this precious time wasted, and nothing done. Look you here young woman!" turning to Madge, "you need not expect your father home just at present, he's disposed of where he'll trouble nobody for some time to come. There's not a soul within a mile of you except us two, fellows who don't stick at trifles, against a wisp of a girl who gives tongue if she sees a mouse suddenly. Now we've nothing against you yourself; we don't wish to do you any harm. What we have come for is the money we know you have in the house: not the old man's money, but the money belonging to the railway. You can drop it quietly out of the window if you like; we know within a quid or two how much there is, and we'll take our leave at once; and you'll be none the poorer, it will only be the railway that will suffer, and they can afford it. But offer any resistance, or try on any of your tricks, and we'll not only take the money, but your life into the bargain. Won't we, mate?"

Dick muttered some inaudible words in reply, and sat down sullenly on a pile of sleepers close at hand.

The idea of any one thinking it worth while to rob the station, had never entered the head of Madge; but as Kulp spoke, she remembered that there was that night a much larger sum of money in the house than had ever been there before. Dick, from his frequent visits to the station, was doubtless well aware that old David was in the habit of keeping the cash in his bedroom as a security against thieves. All these thoughts passed through her brain while Kulp was speaking. When he had done, she gave one great despairing sob, wrung from her by the thought of her lover's treachery, and her heart for the moment seemed to wither up within her. But the necessity for immediate action was pressing—she would have time enough in the dark future before her to brood over her sweetheart's baseness. What must she do? If her father was not ill, as these men had at first asserted, why then had he not come home? He had never, even when most overcome, stayed out till this hour. Was it not possible, nay probable, that they had murdered him first to get him out of the way, and then had come on to the station to complete their work by robbery, and perhaps murder, there?

A rude summons from Kulp cut short her gloomy reverie.

"Now, young woman, what are you about? Do you expect us to wait here all night?"

"O Dick, for pity sake, tell me what has become of my father?" she said, still speaking through the window, and heedless for the moment of Kulp.

Dick rose from his seat as if he were going to reply, but Kulp waved him back. "Your father's disposed of where he'll trouble nobody, as I told you before. And now let us have your answer at once. Do you mean to give us that money quietly or not?"

"No—a thousand times no!" exclaimed Madge, passionately. "Cowards that you are, come and take it if you dare!" and she shut down the window with a bang, as though disdaining further parley.

The thought of her father lying wounded, perhaps dead, in some lonely spot, lent her courage, a reckless audacity, that made her for the time almost indifferent to anything that could happen to herself. What means of defense had she? was her first question. Scarcely any. The doors and windows, indeed, down stairs were fastened; but she knew well that they would not stand long against the assaults of two men determined on effecting an entrance. There were no arms of any kind in the house. There was the door at the bottom of the stairs opening into the kitchen, she might, perhaps, do a little toward securing that. The candle was still burning where she had left it; and as she went into the room, the cash-box, containing the cause of all this trouble, met her eye. Her father's keys lay beside it, together with a bag containing the silver and copper retained by David as change. She hastened to provide for the safety of the treasure. Opening the cash-box, she took out the bag containing the day's receipts, in notes, cheques and gold, and concealed them in the bosom of her dress. She then put the bag containing the silver and copper into the box, locked it and threw the key under the bed. Her next proceeding was to secure the frail door at the foot of the staircase as well as she was able, by inserting a small wooden peg above the latch, so as to hinder any one from opening it in the ordinary way: and then by piling against it several chairs and other light articles of bedroom furniture, such as her limited strength permitted her to lift. She was well aware that even then it was a protection which a few minutes would suffice to demolish; but every minute was a gain to her desperate strait; her only hope lay in prolonging the struggle as much as possible—help might come, she knew not how or whence, when least expected.

Outside, everything remained quiet. Could it be possible that they would, after all, go away without [illegible]? With this blessed hope beating warmly at her heart, Madge ran back to the window of her own room, and peeped through. Alas, no, both of them were there still. They were stooping over a heap of sleepers piled close at hand for the purpose of relieving the fire: and having selected one, they lifted it on their shoulders, and brought it thus to the door of the house. At the first stroke of his novel but powerful battering ram, Madge gave a little shriek, and sank, white and trembling to the ground; all her little stock of courage had vanished, and she seemed, for the first time, to realize the dangers of her position. Like the blows of a pavior's rammer came the strokes against the door down stairs, and at each of them Madge's heart beat with responsive throes. Suddenly, with a great crash, the door gave way, and with a yell of triumph, Kulp burst into the house followed by his silent companion. Madge started up and double-locked her bedroom door; then rushed to the window, determined to fly out at any cost, and forgetting for the moment that the window, small in itself, was still further secured by a bar of iron running across its center, sufficient to prevent her little body from squeezing through.

With a cry of despair, she turned away from the window, and then a moment after almost laughed to herself—so sudden are the alternations of feelings at such a time—to think that she had forgotten all about the little loft over the bedroom. Surely there, of all the places in the house, since it was evident that from the house itself there was now no escape, she would be most secure. It was a mere cockloft, open to the sloping rafters of the roof, lighted by a skylight composed of a single pane of glass; it was used by David as a storehouse for his onions, seeds and various kinds of rubbish put away at odd times by the old man, as never likely to be wanted again; but to Madge in that hour of her extremity, it seemed a very harbor of refuge. The short broken ladder by which David gained access to it was always kept behind his bedroom door. She entered the door of her own room, got the ladder and placed it against the wall under the opening in the loft, which showed black and grim above her head, there being no door to it or fastening to it of any kind.

Madge paused for a minute before going up the ladder. After feeling that the money was still safe in the bosom of her dress, she went lightly into her father's room and blew out the candle, which had been burning there since first taken out of her own room; she next locked the doors of both rooms, put the keys in her pocket, and then stood to listen with one foot on the ladder, ready to ascend. From the moment the front door was burst in, to that in which Madge stood thus, not more than two minutes had elapsed, sufficient, however, for the two men down stairs to ransack every corner, and to make sure before proceeding further, that Madge was hidden nowhere below. The door at the foot of the stairs was tried next; and the moment Madge heard this, she mounted the ladder noiselessly, and creeping through the opening into the loft with the agility of a cat, reached down with one hand, drew up the ladder after her, and then sat down by the edge of the opening to wait, with a heart that beat almost to bursting, whatever might happen next. The door not yielding easily, the battering ram was applied to it, and half a dozen blows were sufficient to break it off its hinges. The furniture piled up behind it was quickly dragged down by the indefatigable Kulp, and the way to the bedroom was then clear. Madge listened intently, heard Kulp inciting Dick to drink out of his brandy flask; after which he went in search of matches and a candle, for all of their work hitherto had been done by the light of the clouded moon. Having procured a light, after a delay of some minutes, during which he relieved his mind by a large amount of swearing, Kulp advanced cautiously up stairs. Having reached the bedroom doors in safety, and finding both of them to be locked, Dick and he held a brief consultation. Dick was inclined to break into the old man's room first, being well aware that the money was always put there over night; but Mr. Kulp, whose quick, restless eyes had caught sight of the opening into the loft, gave it as his opinion, emphasized with numerous oaths, that both bird and money would be found snugly hid away in the little nest at the top of the house; so it was agreed that he should explore the loft while Dick effected an entrance into David's room. Mr. Kulp's first task was to fetch a couple of chairs up stairs, and having fixed one of them upon the other, he proceeded to climb carefully to the top, just as Dick succeeded in breaking open the bedroom door.

HAVING BEEN COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF LEGAL TENDER NOTES AT PAR since December 31st, 1862, for the rent of my Handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce, for the benefit of the public at large, that

Jacob Mayer

Leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no paper currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since the date above stated I have received the depreciated currency regularly, under protest for Receipt of the

CITY OF PARIS STORE,

Making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public to what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to save a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what it costs to have such tenants. G. W. VAUGHN.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes,

It is well known that the Medical effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a Solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown, and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DIScovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to overestimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most eminent and practical physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. [illegible]

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS and GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr. Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after several years' patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the [illegible], is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton, this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended in practice. (Vide "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1860, page 70.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER,

This valuable medicine is now available to the public in the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, &c.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the [illegible] Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color, hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr. H. Anders & Co., Physicians and Chemists, New York.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction, even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, to wit:

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once restored, revivified and built up. Well may this wonderful medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER,

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom and an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor—the result of the CONSTITUTION itself, and restored to his normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGURY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS,
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT, and you will [illegible] give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through the hips? A bottle of CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.
